

This email disclaimer is enforceable and binding on the recipient / addressee in terms of Electronic Communications and Transactions (“ECT”) Act 25 of 2002.

1. This email transmission contains confidential information, which is the property of the sender.
 2. The information in this e-mail and attachments is intended for the attention of and licensed use by the intended recipient only. The Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies retains the intellectual property including copyright in all email messages and attachments sent from its communications systems insofar as such content is original and subject to copyright. The intended recipient is only licensed to open and read the message and/or attachments. All other rights are reserved unless so indicated by the sender and/or the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies.
 3. If you are not the intended recipient or should you have received this email in error, please delete it and inform us. Any disclosure, copying or distribution of the contents of this e-mail transmission, or the taking of any action in reliance thereon or pursuant thereto, is strictly prohibited.
 4. While every effort is taken to ensure that this email message and any attachments are free from viruses, the sender and the sender’s employer cannot be held liable in the unlikely event that a virus is transmitted to the recipient’s computer systems. The recipient is responsible for maintaining suitable anti-virus mechanisms to protect its computer systems.
 5. Under no circumstances will the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies or the sender of this email be liable to any person for any direct, indirect, special or other consequential damages for any use of this email, or of any other hyper linked web site, including, without limitation, any lost profits, business interruption, loss of programmes or other data or information handling systems or otherwise.
 6. Any agreement to be concluded with the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies using electronic correspondence shall only come into effect once the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies has, through a duly authorised representative at the University of KwaZulu Natal, expressly acknowledged such contract formation in a follow up communication.
 7. No e-mail correspondence sent to the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies shall be deemed to have been received until the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies has responded thereto. An auto-reply shall not constitute such a response.
 8. No warranties are made or implied that any users of the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies mail server was authorised to make this communication.
 9. The views and opinions expressed in this email do not necessarily express or reflect the views and / or opinions of the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies/ University of KwaZulu Natal.
 10. This email disclaimer will at all times take precedence over any other email disclaimer including any disclaimer received by individuals utilising the communications facilities of the Africa Centre for Health and Population Studies.
 11. The law of South Africa shall govern this email message and legal notice.
-